BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE'S POSITION.

TOO MANY SPIES AROUND.

(Reuter's Service.)

LONDON, August 22.

There is considerable discussion in London with regard_to the reported humiliating treatment of Mr. Hodgson, British Charge d'Affaires

If is learned in well-informed circles that the report that Mr. Hodgson is practically a prisoner is incorrect, but spies infest the British Mission, rendering it most difficult for Russians to have any continuous relations with the Mission. The attention of M. Rakovsky has been called to the matter. It is hoped his representation of the complaint to Moscow will lead to an improvement in conditions.

STORM IN REICHSTAG.

COMMUNIST SCHWARZ, SUSPENDED

IGNORES PRESIDENT'S ORDER

BERLIN, August 22.

There were stormy scenes on the re-assembly of the Reichstag. The Communists demanded the immediate discussion of the Communist motion as "being more important than the Government declaration on the surrender of the German people; to international 'capital." They also demanded immediate dissolution and a plebiscite on the Dawes report.

Herr Marx was prevented from beginning statement on the London Conference by prolonged Communist shricks of amnesty for political prisoners. The President ultimately was obliged to adjourn the sitting and suspend the Communist Schwarz for twenty sittings of the Reichstag.

Schwarz was still in his seat on the resumption of the sitting. The President, readjourned the Reichstag until to morrow, saying that standing orders did not authorise the forcible removal of the

INDUSTRIALISTS' FIRM STAND.

At a meeting of the executive of several big associations of industrialists and merchants, a Typicintion, recommending the adoption of the Zondon Agreement, was carried by 100 votes to 3. ANOTHER ELECTION POSSIBLE.

After sitting for several hours, the German People's Party in the Reichstag unanimously decided to accept the decision of the London Coaference, despite the burdens imposed on Germany. But it added that it was the duty of the Government to clear up the diplomatic situation by all means in its power. The German Nationalist Party in the Reichstag unanimously decided to adhere to its resolution of the July 22, demanding the immediate evacuation of the Ruhr and the restoration of the German railways, etc. All the papers interpret the Nationalist Party resolution as meaning that the Party will vote against the Dawes Bill in the Reichstag and that this will ensure their rejection. This will mean the immediate dissolution of the Reichstag and another general election, which is tantamount to a

FRENCH CHAMBER DEBATE.

I. HERRIOT EXPLAINS FURTHER.

MR: MACDONALD'S LETTER.

(Reuter's Service.)

PARIS, August 22.

At the resumption of the debate in the Chamber of Deputies, M. Herriot stated-that-Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's letter, regarding the evacuation of the Ruhr, had been handed to him in London, before the pact had been concluded, before Mr. MacDonald's, speech and before the Ruhr ragation was settled. M. Herriot pointed out that the Germans and French ad submitted their own viewpoints on the Ruhr Question and Mr. MacDonald, quite rightfully, submitted the British viewpoint. Therefore, it was unjust to interpret Mr. MacDonald's action as a wrongful proceeding, or a disavowal of the agreements reached in London. THE EARLIER STAGES.

The Chamber has begun the debate on M. Herriot's statement. Although there is no doubt that the Premier will obtain a substantial majority there is a prospect of a series of long speeches in both the Chamber and the Senate. Thus the discussion will probably not end before the middle of next week at the earliest. The Chamber yesterday evening adjourned till this morning. A Communist motion, which was rejected, proposed the adjournment until the Senate had discussed the Amnesty Bill.

Certainly, as we have already said, the need for reform has long been known, but without the startling statements mentioned above little headway was possible, as the "China Mail": found nearly two years ago when it first pressed the need for entire health laws. Following statements from responsible vital questions like impure water. malarial nullahe, and unhealthy drainage are often matters over which our health officers have no control, statements confessing in so many words that under the existing system common sense must be banished lest it bring nor aos"—following startling admissions like these, we say, coupled. with the fact that nobody denies the Sanitary Department is gravely under-staffed, the Government must surely now give heed where it has taken no notice at all before. That is why we hope the Unofficial Members will seize the opportunity presented by Thursday's Legislative Council meeting to press for an adequate health service, either in the shape of a Health Board, as Dr. Koch has been urging, or in the shape of a properly constituted and fully staffed Health Department. Confining themselves to the testimony provided by the last two Sanitary Board meetings, the Unofficial Members can make out an unanswerable case for reform, and they can proceed knowing that they have the full support of the public behind them. The "China Mail" feels confident that they will seize their opportunity with alacrity.

Japan's Tariff.

In view-of-the-outery-that-stamps, 5.15 p.m. Japan's new tariff laws have called forth in Britain and elsewhere, it is good news to learn that the Japanese Government is prepared to reconsider individual cases instance the conventional tariff between Britain and Japan be abrogated on March 10 next year. In this connection, according to the Osaka "Asahi," the Japanese Government will not establish a new conventional tariff, temporary or otherwise. Accordingly it is expected that the tariff on some goods which are being imported from Britain may prove to be lower than the present conventional tariff and that trade between Britain and Japan will not be injuriously affected. It reported that similar steps will be taken by the Japanese Government in regard to requests received from Britain, France, China, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Switzerland for lower so-called articles of luxury.

CANTON CRISIS. GENERAL STRIKE BEGINS.

Volunteers' First Move.

ATTEMPT TO ISOLATE CANTON.

'A general strike is already in operation in the Fatshan district, according to information given to a "China Mail" representative this morning by a prominent Hongkong business man in close touch, with the Canton situation. 🐬

This gentleman agreed with our representative that there appeared to be a strict censorship of general news from Canton and that the only_reliable_information_appeared/ to be that which was obtained from private sources,

He continued that he shad received reliable information that the Merchant Volunteers nbready instituted a general strike! in Patshan to district in which they are particularly strong and out of which they cleared Sun's troops a fortnight ago). It appeared to be the intention of the Volunteers. added, of gradually spread: the strike up the North River delta to the outlying villages of Cauton and in time if a settlement was_not_reached_eventually. o effect-a---penceful general-isolaion of Canton," -- Our informant added that he thought the Merchant Volunteers would avoid fight, if possible, and he thought that Sun would early realise through the expressed opinion of to be scored Direct from this kick. outside powers, that he would have

If the German Consul bad been as strong there as he had been at one time: and if it was true that the German firm, which inneorted the arms. had not received payment he would certainly be in a position to say that the arms should not be banded over until payment had been made.

PROUBLE UNLIKELY.

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE SITUATION.

- Some circles in Canton believe, it should be mentioned, that the prospects of a strike breaking out in Canton itself are very remote and go so fareas to siv there will be no open trouble in the city. They admit, that reports from Eutshan say the Volunteers are assembling in force there, but chim to I now , very adefinitely that beyond the holding of meetings and the delivery of inspired speeches there have been no demonstrations. The opinion is held that unless Sun i attacked by Chan Kwing-ming or one or more of his larger armies of mercenaries-and the attack looks succeeding -- the bourgeois will not move openly.

It is not generally known that the individual members of the Volunteers are mostly shop fokis! who have their Mausers and uniforms provided by their employers. The average shop might! have between one and four Volunteers on its staff. These fokis have nothing to lose by confiscation; only the employers would suffer pecuniary loss. Should the arms not be returned the rank-and-file wi probably accept the position quietly, as membership confers certair Small privileges. Accordingly it is thought the Velunteer leaders will find it difficult to get their men to

Unless Sun strikes first and sends? regulars to disurn the Volunteers in Cariton, it is suggested, the controversy will die a natural death It may be that Sun is scared of the hourgeois but the little they have done as compared with their dechrutions will have convinced him Club and the Hongkong Baseball that beyond acting as a very mild Club will meet, at 4 o'clock this reserve to the police in keeping afternoon, on the HK-F-C ground order-ngainst bad characters and at Happy Valley. THE AMERICAN BLEC-TORAL OUTLOOK.

Mr. Edward Price Bell, of the Chicago "Dally News," contributer the following to "The Observer." It is of particular interest in view Mr. Davis's acceptance democratic presidential nomination:-

What do the wirepullers talk about in the great party conventions? What did they talk about at Cleveland and in New York? Did they talk about duty or honour? They talked about votes and expediency, misconceiving both.

A MOOD OF ADVENTURE. America's mood to-day is a invisible desires, the policies inhering in their unuttered faith. One day we shall have such a leader, for history does not get forward by objective thinking alone nor mainly; it gets forward through irrepressible vitalities of progress from a dawning consciousness of the divine to the fu orbed splendour of that knowledge of God in whom standeth our eternal life. Progress had been along the lines of the growing realisation of the eternal glory of hat inheritance.

Man's spiritual inheritance is the most recently acquired of all his possessions—and—that—which—is least understood and enjoyed Many remain content which purely material and tempora inheritance and are unresponsive to the call of the spirit and unwilling to sacrifice the lower in the interests of the higher. Any description of man's spiritual inheritance could be only partial, inadequate, and misleading. We content ourself with the mention of certain characteristic bequests which the past has made in its contribution to our spiritual

At the outset, Mr. Maitland intimated that, after he had called medical and other evidence, he would ask leave of the court to withdraw the charge. Presents Her Own Version.

The greatest of importance attaches to the announcement of the forthcoming showing in this city of Mary Pickford's notable 1922 production of "Tess of the Storm Country." This screen event marks a vital epoch in photoplay history inasmuch as it is the first instance in which a great star has resurrected from the past the picture which won her a permanent place in the photoplay hall fame and produced it for a second time on an elaborated scale, taking advantage of all the progress the film-making industry has made in the intervening years...

Critics everywhere declare it to be her most artistic achievement and the concensus of opinion seems to be that it will live through posterity as one of the foremost cinema classics of the first two decades of the new art. Miss Pickford in the role of Tess is said to be truly at her very best and her performance reveals the finished touches of artistry which is so distinctly her own. Undoubtedly most of her legions of admirers will silent drama. The supporting cast she has selected personally is most capable. the Storm Country" has to do with a group of fishermen who had "squatted" on lake-shore land belonging to a wealthy and tightfisted man, whose stern efforts to evict the "intruders" form the crux of the conflict. Tess is the daughter of one of these fishermen and it is her winsome manner and rare beauty which inspires the son of the rich man to intercede in behalf of those his father would persecute. This complicates matters as does the advances of a villainous fisherman who seeks the girl for himself. A heart-touching self-sacrifice on the part of Tess saves the rich man's daughter from disgrace and the ending is such as pleases everyone after the heroine has gone through all the agonies of having her father

LIQUID GLUE

-A-I-first-thought-the-combination-is not so attractive, but it will be found that the ugly practicality of the one makes possible the manufacture of many delightful things, when used with the gorgeous beauty of the other. No other general direction concerning the use of the glue is needed than that it be of the best quality and used sparingly, for there are, one will readily admit, disastrous possibilities when too much of the sticky stuff is used.

Useful things, decorative things, beautiful things are possible with a little thought in the choice of ribbons and a little painstaking labour. So familiar have we become with the ornamental ribbons that it remains only to choose the colours most appr priate in the type of ribbon most convenient for one's purpose. Boxes for the extra deck of cards at the bridge table may be made of brilliantly coloured ribbon—the material glued neatly down to the box open at one end, the other fastened to a base, also covered with the ribbon. Plisse ribbon may be used for the sides of an ernamental cigarette box, the top being covered with plain ribbon to match. These make acceptable bridge prizes.

The cane—an increasingly popular accessory-may be covered with ribbons in two colours, alternating, the ribbons held in place by glue sparingly applied at the top and bottom, and at regular intervals between. Or ribbon may be made into a woven handle for the enamelled cane that needs no other decoration than its finish. The house comes in for its share of attention, in the use of ribbons and glue, for it is possible to make very levely screens of beaver board, a plain material and strips of gorgeous ribbon for decoration. The art lies in making the surfaces lie fint. Waste paper baskets may be made of strips of beaver board covered in the same way, and tied together with ribbons-they will surely match the furnishings of the room, if one may make her own choice.

Once Milady becomes adept in the use of ribbons and glue, she will be constantly putting her adeptness to clever uses, anti-original ones.

The Park itself embraces part of the western flank of the Sierra Nevada in an area almost as large as the state of Rhode Island, studded with peaks, domes and spires and sculptured into valleys, canyons and gorges. In all this region of wonders the Yosemite Walley stands forth as the outstanding Jewel. To the seasoned tourist the Yellowstone spells "goysers"; in the same way the Yosemite Valley spells "wnterfulls."

As the airplane skirts the region, the traveller is ant to be convinced that the Yosemite is an enclosed valley, with only a narrow entrance through which the Morced River finds, its way. This-conviction is due to the sheer declivity of the steep and towering walls to be seen in all directions. It seems positive that if the giant rocks at the throat of this valley should fall and block the exit the luckless traveller within the area would be unable to make his way to the outside world. The illusion of impenetrability is so complete that it is not dispelled until one sees at close range the climuolo trails which have been constructed up the seemingly precipitate walls. Access to the region by the surface tourist has been fully provided for, but the airplane is still the ideal means of sightseeing in this Valley of wonders. A World Wonder.
